

Pessoal

Lisboa

Idiomas

English

Spanish

Portuguese

Assertive, perceptive, and ambitious Political and International Relations student with experience in Business Expansion and International Trade, with an ability to learn and grasp new ideas quickly and efficiently. With excellent communication skills, great attention to detail and leadership, I have the ability of working well in a team and under pressure. Recently completed the Master degree in International Relations and Public Affairs at the IE University, Madrid.

Experiência profissional

Internship

Jul 2019 - Ago 2019

Aga Khan Foundation, London

Key role in many projects regarding the humanitarian activity of the Aga Khan Foundation and the Aga Khan Development Network throughout Asia and Africa, mostly Afghanistan, Syria and Mozambique.

Major participation in projects regarding education in East African countries, Central Asian countries and the Middle East.

Internship

Jul 2020 - Ago 2020

Julius Baer, Dubai

The aim of this Program was financial literacy, to equip participants with enough insight to be able to start participating in portfolio review discussions with their asset management focused bankers and to serve as the initial launchpad into the dynamic world of financial investing. It also focused on the careers in the field of private banking.

Formação e Qualificações

Bachelors

Set 2017 - Jul 2021

Universidade Católica de Lisboa, Lisboa

The Catholic University of Portugal's Institute for Political Studies Undergraduate Degrees in Political Science and International Relations seek to endow students with a solid scientific, theoretical and practical background. However, the programs also clearly display a humanistic vocation, seeking to train competent professionals and specialists and, above all else, free and responsible citizens: "gentlemen" and "gentlewomen" as it might alternatively be expressed. This degree is founded on the conception of social and political studies playing an essential role in university education, itself understood as education for excellence.

Masters

Set 2021 - Jul 2022

IE University, Madrid

The Master in International Relations equips professionals with the knowledge and skills necessary to successfully lead governmental organizations, businesses, civil society organizations, and multilateral organizations in a rapidly evolving environment. It trains professionals in the intricate dynamics that shape global affairs.

This is accomplished by the curriculum by equipping individuals with the knowledge and abilities need to carve out a prosperous profession inside an engaging, experiential learning experience that excels academically. With the option to specialize in one of three main tracks Global Governance and International Cooperation, International Economics and Business, or Geopolitics and Diplomacy

Aptidões

Microsoft Office

R Coding/RStudio

Java

